Gianna's Gestures:

Gianna: "I yield the floor to Mia."

Mia: "We're thinking about themes for the winter pep rally, and we're thinking New Year's Eve theme. What do you guys think about that?"

Langston: "When is it?"

Mia: "December 14th."

Gianna: "When's winter formal?"

Wyatt: "We're thinking mid January."

Claire: "I think we've done that theme before a few years ago."

Wyatt: "I'll call Kris P. today for the official date for winter formal."

Ned: "We already have a date. It's January 19th."

Gianna: "Any other theme ideas for the winter rally?"

Danny: "We could do a star performance at the rally. That'd be cool."

Langston: "Can we get a ball to drop."

Rachel: "Can you get bubble things that look like snow?"

Maddie: "Get the crowns and decorations that say 'Happy New Year'".

Izzy: "We could make a cool video before."

Gianna: "We could interview people as they're walking to class, asking them about their favorite memories from 2018."

Nate: "We can announce the winter formal theme like the ball drop. You count five, four, three, two, one and then announce the theme."

Ned: "Are you excited about that idea?"

Giana: "Yes. End of discussion. What's our theme for winter formal?"

Nate: "Our winter formal theme is Old Vegas. There will be a casino upstairs. Everyone gets a certain amount of chips when they walk in, and you can gamble the chips to try to get more chips. The chips are used to buy raffle tickets."

Wyatt: "The tables will be tables with blackjack and roulette and games like that."

Nate: "This gambling idea also promotes people to stay longer at the dance because the raffle is announced at the end."

Anna Shaver: "What's the prize?"

Wyatt: "We're thinking about doing gift cards from Ocean Ranch."

Langston: "Another idea for the prize could be the pjs and onesies that are Dana spirit wear."

Ned: "We don't need to discuss that."

Giana: "Anything else?"

Mia: "Let me know about game ideas for the rally."

Riley: "I like Kahoot."

Langston: "We can't do Kahoot anymore because there are kahoot bots that crash the system."

Gianna: "What about DHQ?"

Langston: "That's when we had the crash. The DHQ is the Kahoot."

Gianna: "We'll work on that later. I was thinking for bonding that on Friday we could do a potluck and only freshmen and sophomores bring food, so if you want food, then you have to go up and ask them. 'Can I have a cookie?' The next semester we could switch it, and seniors and juniors bring the food."

Langston: "Can we put tables in long row for our potluck?"

Gianana: "I yield the floor to Ned."

Ned's Notes:

Ned: "Dance this Friday. As of today, we had three kids bring in two cans each."

Gianna: "Were they ASU kids?"

Ned: "No. It's a start. You're asking a lot of people to give up their Friday night and bring cans. It's not a good idea to bring in 87 ASU kids and three, five, twenty, thirty non ASU kids to keep the mall dance alive. It's gonna suck. The break even point I see is 150 non ASU kids, and we have to do that by tomorrow. We have to say no this isn't gonna happen or it's not right to be pulling kids out for sixth period on Friday. We have to rush to set-up because it's 6-7:30. It's hard to move up half an hour. That's very little time to build. Those know it's hard from the Niguel Hills dance. It's a lot of work."

Lang: "It's really cool though."

Ned: "Yes it is. I want our school to benefit from this cool stuff. I don't fear hard work. Non of the seniors are coming because they are all ditching school. Underclassman are too cool for school."

Langston: "We have a canned food drive in two weeks? Can we move the dance?"

Anna Nemeth: "Not anymore. It's been taken off of the calendar."

Gianna: "This is our canned food drive. Why did we advertise it as a ticket, instead, of for charity?"

Langston: "Since the winter rally is before winter break and winter formal is after break, why don't we do the mall dance in between them after the winter rally?"

Izzy: "It looks really bad if we advertise right now and then it gets cancelled."

Gianna: "We could really push the graphic."

Wyatt: "I think a lot of people are waiting till Friday and are just going to pay $5."

Danny: "I think a lot of people are interested. They screenshotted my snapchat of the graphic."

Gianna: "Is it too late to say you can bring five dollars any day, and we advertise it as that. That's an idea I agree with."

Anna Shaver: "Let's do a poll on the Dana Instagram and see what people vote."

Gianna: "Okay, so let's change it to five dollars anytime this week."

Ned: "KHK has to be there to collect the money everyday because we can't collect money."

Gianna: "Kira, we are going to have to change the graphic. Delete and add that you can bring five dollars at any point. All money goes to the canned food drive. You can be excused to work on it. Also, senior directors, you need to send it out to your division, and it's mandatory that everyone posts it on social media."

Ned: "I was serious when I meant that we need to get to know each other. You guys know each other, but a lot of people don't. We need to make an effort. Also, cabinet meetings are a constitutional requirement. No excuses for anyone. This is part of your responsibility and grade. You can't send a representative if you're working on your project. That should already be done. That's it. I'm going to work on the pumpkin decorating contest poll."

Langston: "If we cancel the dance, then we should postpone it."

Gianna: "We're done talking about that."
